About event

The only constant is change. In a rapidly evolving maritime and ocean industry, how can we work to find the strategies, solutions and partners to mitigate risk, maximise opportunity and meet ambitious climate goals? Understanding is key, collaboration is critical.

In collaboration with Nor-Shipping we have lined up industry champions to discuss what future-proof means and the effects this will have on the industry, as a pre-lude to the world's largest and most influential platform for any sectors linked to the oceans.
